THOUGHTS ON TODAY'S READINGS

The first reading from Sirach describes God as partial to the weak, listening to the cry of the oppressed, especially the powerless orphans and widows. God always listens to the poor and has a favorable sentence on the one who does not boast of their merits and has only poverty and mercy to rely on. God will vindicate the rights of the wronged. One incident which impressed itself on Mahatma Gandhi's mind was when he was obliged to step into the gutter so that a group of white passers-by would not be contaminated. Reflecting on the experience afterwards he wrote: "It has always been a mystery to me how men feel themselves honored by the humiliation of their fellow beings." Gandhi made the remark not in anger but in surprise. Gandhi believed in a God who was no respecter of the privileged to the detriment of the poor.

In today's Gospel, we hear the parable that Jesus tells about the Pharisee and tax collector. The Pharisee, instead of presenting himself humbly before God asking for God's help and grace, lists the faults of others, and complains also about the tax collector praying nearby. We might think the Pharisee came to God with the right attitude since he fasted twice a week. On the other hand, the tax collector goes to the temple in repentance. He did not try to conceal who he really was or put on a mask to hide his real self from God. He came to God as he was. Therefore, God met him where he was and lifted him up and went home justified.

For the same reason we begin every Mass asking God to forgive us and again before receiving Holy Communion we say, "Lord I am not worthy to receive you but only say the word and I shall be healed." The Lord is waiting to fill us with his grace and love, if only we come before him in humble repentance saying like the tax collector, "O God, be merciful to me a sinner."

THIS WEEK'S MESSAGE

Today's Gospel is the famous parable of the Pharisee and Publican. What the Pharisee could not see and the Publican could was that all goodness and all grace comes from God! The Publican in humility called out for God's mercy while the Pharisee thought that his good actions justified him before God. The good we do is God's grace working in us and we do it with humility and gratitude for God's love. What good works can you do this week that will give witness to God's grace and love and mercy in your life?
